Handwritten text in a script, likely Tibetan, arranged in horizontal lines across the page. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowish paper. Each line begins with a small, distinct symbol or character, possibly a section marker or a specific character from the script. The lines are closely spaced and run parallel to each other, filling most of the page's width. The handwriting is consistent throughout, suggesting a single scribe or a well-trained student. The overall appearance is that of a traditional manuscript or a page from an ancient book.

Vertical text on the left margin, likely a list of items or a table of contents.
